PROJECTS

SMARTPRENATAL: AI-POWERED ABNORMAL PREGNANCY DETECTION

Developed an AI-based diagnostic system that identifies abnormalities in fetal ultrasound images using autoencoders and One-Class SVM. Built a Streamlit application for real-time image processing, feature extraction, and anomaly detection. Enabled clinicians to upload ultrasound frames by fetal plane and receive instant, interpretable predictions to support prenatal diagnosis.

Technologies Used: Python, TensorFlow, scikit-learn, OpenCV, Streamlit, NumPy, Pandas

Scrap Management Website

Developed a web application that allows users to upload details of scrap items, manage listings, and connect with buyers or collection agents. Includes features for posting scrap, viewing offers, and tracking requests through a clean and user-friendly interface.

Technologies Used: HTML, CSS, JavaScript, Node.js, Express.js, MongoDB
